Upper Columbia Conference Honor Pilot

The Bible is the most important Book ever created. With an estimated 5 trillion copies sold since it was first compiled, it is the most widely distributed Book in history, printed in over 600 languages. Besides being a collection of some of the oldest recorded writings, accurately noting historical events, and famously being the first book ever printed, it tells the story of Jesus and His plan to save us from our sins.

Still, many people question the Bible. Is it really accurate? Did everything in it happen just like it says it did? Hasn't it changed over the years? And even if it is as important as we say it is, what difference does it make?

Let's explore the history of the Bible and what makes it so powerful to us as Christians!

NOTE: This honor is based on the Pathfinder edition of the NKJV Bible.

What makes the Bible important to you?<sup>1</sup>

What is the Bible?

The Bible is a Book that contains a number of smaller books written hundreds or thousands of years ago and handed down from generation to generation. Much of the Old Testament was collected and published by the ancient Israelites and passed down to those of the modern-day Jewish faith. The New Testament narrates the life of Jesus, His death and resurrection, and records what happened to the early Christian church after He returned to heaven. Here's some Bible facts:

The Old Testament is about 75% of the Bible!

The Old Testament contains 39 books, and the New Testament contains 27 books for a total of 66 books.

There are 1189 chapters total in the Bible.

The Bible contains an incredible 31,102 verses!

The Bible is more than a book. It's a map from God that helps lead us into a closer walk with Him!!

The Purpose of the Bible

The Bible actually talks about itself and its own purpose. Here's a couple of verses that talk about what the Bible is meant for:

“Sanctify them by Your truth. Your word is truth.” (John 17:17)

“All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, <sup>17</sup> that the man of God may be complete, thoroughly equipped for every good work.”
(2 Timothy 3:16-17)

“You search the Scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life; and these are they which testify of Me.” (John 5:39)

The grass withers, the flower fades,
But the word of our God stands forever.”
(Isaiah 40:8)

God's Word, the Bible, is true. It is given to us to help train us to be the people that God would want us to be. It is made to point us to Jesus, since it is all about Him, and finally, it lasts forever and never changes!

Authors of the Bible

The Bible was inspired by God. This means that He impressed them about what to write, but He often didn't tell them the exact words to say!<sup>1</sup>

The Bible was written by over 40 people who were inspired by God to record events, prophecies, and poetry for God's people to benefit from. However, we don't know for sure who all these people are!

The authors of some books seem easy to guess, such as the book of Matthew, Joshua, and 1st and 2nd Peter, and religious history suggests that the first 5 books of the Bible, known as the Pentateuch, were written by Moses. However, the authors of some books such as Job and the Chronicles aren't as easy to identify! Some books even have several authors, and many seem to have been written by a scribe or servant, who sometimes seemed to add notes or extra information after the author died. We can compare and contrast their writing to make educated guesses, but we may never know until we get to heaven!

Bible Terminology

The Bible never calls itself the “Bible”. It refers to itself as the Scriptures or the Word of God. The word “Bible”, which comes from the Latin root “biblia”, which literally means “the book”.

“Testament” can mean “a person’s will, especially the part relating to personal property.” You could consider it like someone’s last will and testament, a plan for what will be given and provided to the family of the author of the will. In a Biblical sense, the Old and New Testaments are like God’s plan or “will” for everything that belongs to Him, including His creation, and those who choose to follow Him. “Testament” can also mean a sign or evidence, just like the Bible is a sign from God to us!

There is evidence of God’s love for us all throughout the Bible!<sup>2</sup>

Authorship

Moses is credited for writing the first five books of the Bible known as the Pentateuch, which is one-fifth of the entire Bible! Some scholars believe he also wrote the book of Job!<sup>1</sup>

If the tradition regarding Moses writing the first five books of the Bible is true, then the first books of the Bible were written in the early 1600s and or the late 1500s BC. Books were added over time, but were collected as sacred material, not necessarily a book. The whole Old Testament was collected and compiled by the time Jesus was born. After that, the New Testament was written, being completed by the time of the death of the last in the generation that had seen Jesus in person.

The apostle Paul is credited with writing the most individual books of the Bible, writing 12 epistles most of which he wrote during his time in prison.<sup>2</sup>

Revelation, the last book of the Bible is also the latest book that was written. The disciple John wrote the book while exiled to the island of Patmos, about 50 years after Jesus' death.<sup>3</sup>

Early Compilation

Both the Old and New Testaments as we know them today were approved by the early Christian church (which would become the Catholic church later in history) in the late 300s or early 400s AD. Not everyone

The Council of Rome in 382 was one of the first attempts to sort books that belonged in the Bible with books that should be excluded.<sup>1</sup> agreed which of the books to include in the officially accepted version of the Bible. In fact, there were several other manuscripts that were considered, especially for the New Testament, but these were excluded for various reasons, such as being written too late to have interacted with any of the original apostles, or making claims that contradicted the rest of the Bible.

Pope Damasus I was the 37th Catholic Pope. He commissioned the creation of the important Vulgate Bible translation, and helped set up the system by which books were selected or excluded, creating the Bible we know today.<sup>2</sup>

Translation

Monks were some of the most important early Bible preservers and translators, copying the Bible by hand for months at a time!<sup>1</sup>

For years, it would be written in Greek, the language that most of the Old Testament had been translated to, and the one that the New Testament had been authored in. It was later translated into Latin, and during the Dark Ages, no one was allowed to read the Bible unless given permission by the ruling governments of the day. Since most people couldn't read Latin, few could learn about God's Word. Reading, sharing, and especially translating the Bible could cost a person his or her life, and many people died trying to share God's truth in a language that people could understand. In England, William Tyndale and John Wycliffe translated the Bible into English, an act that Tyndale later paid with his life, but the Bible spread.

William Tyndale was executed in 1536 for his translation of the Bible into English.<sup>2</sup>

Distribution

Johan Gutenberg, the inventor of the printing press created the first printed book, a Bible, and after that invention, Bibles became more plentiful. When the English King James I took the throne, a professed Christian himself, he ordered that an official translation of the Bible be made, and the King James Bible was created. Robert Estienne divided the New Testament into chapters and verses in 1551, and the Old Testament in 1571. The King James Bible was updated to use modern language in 1979-80, creating the New King James Bible we use today.

One of the 180 Bibles that Gutenberg printed on his printing press, currently preserved and on display in the Library of Congress in Washington DC.<sup>2</sup>

Bible Accuracy

Many people have a hard time explaining how they know the Bible is accurate. Some might say “because the Bible says so.”

It is true that the Bible says that the Bible is accurate, true, and consistent, and believing it because God said so would be faith.

However, saying that to somebody who doesn't know or trust God would be like trying to explain the theory of evolution with evolution. It's circular reasoning and doesn't work! Let's talk about other ways we can explain it to someone who doesn't believe like we do.

Bible Accuracy

Historical Accuracy

The stature in Daniel 2 that King Nebuchadnezzar saw in his dream was an accurate portrayal of the kingdoms that would follow his. Looking back, we can see that this was an accurate Bible prediction!<sup>1</sup>

We could say that we know it's true because of its historical accuracy. The prophet Daniel, through visions sent from God, foretold of the rise and fall of nations, kingdoms, and even churches thousands of years before they came! The Bible contains prophecies about natural events that occurred hundreds or thousands of years later, and Jesus Himself predicted some of these! The Bible, even before it was the Bible, was always spot-on!

Jesus Himself predicted a number of astronomical events that would occur before He returned, many of which we have already seen!<sup>2</sup>

Original Manuscripts and Archeology

Another way that we know the Bible is true is by comparing it to ancient documents. When the Dead Sea Scrolls were discovered in 1946, it was shown that, even though the Bible had been around for thousands of years, it was still the same as the ancient manuscripts that the Jews and early Christians had used around Jesus' time.

The Dead Sea Scrolls, some of the oldest Biblical manuscripts ever found, demonstrate that the Bible message has been carefully and accurately passed from down from generation to generation.<sup>1</sup>

Archeological excavations of the ancient Babylon, a city often referred to in the Bible, and the site of many prophecies (now in modern-day Iraq)<sup>2</sup>

Third, we can use archeological evidence to show that the Bible is accurate. Archeologists have been able to find ancient cities mentioned in the Bible long thought to have been fables. They have found buildings that the Bible accurately

Consistency

A fourth way that we can demonstrate the Bible's accuracy is through how consistent it is. Even though it had dozens of writers across thousands of years, the message was the same. It was always pointing to Jesus, and never contradicted itself!

In spite of its many authors spanning thousands of years, the Bible never contradicts itself!<sup>1</sup>

It is very important that we are confident in the Bible's reliability. How can we confidently share something we don't actually believe? And how can we trust something that is not reliable with something as important as our salvation? If we were to base our lives and our salvation on a map, we would want to be sure the map is perfectly accurate. Thankfully, our map the Bible is accurate!

Bible Use Around the World

The Bible is the central book of the Christian religion. As Christians, we use both the Old and New Testaments and believe that it is the word of God and that it has direct influence on us and how we live our lives.

The Jewish faith uses a different version of the Bible, containing the Torah (the first 5 books of the Bible containing the Law of Moses), the Nevi'im (known in the Bible and even today as "The Prophets") and the Ketuvim (Poetry, records, and historical books). Though the order of the books is different, the Hebrew Bible is very similar to the Christian Old Testament.

A young boy studies the Torah, the first 5 books of the Old Testament containing the Law of Moses.<sup>1</sup>

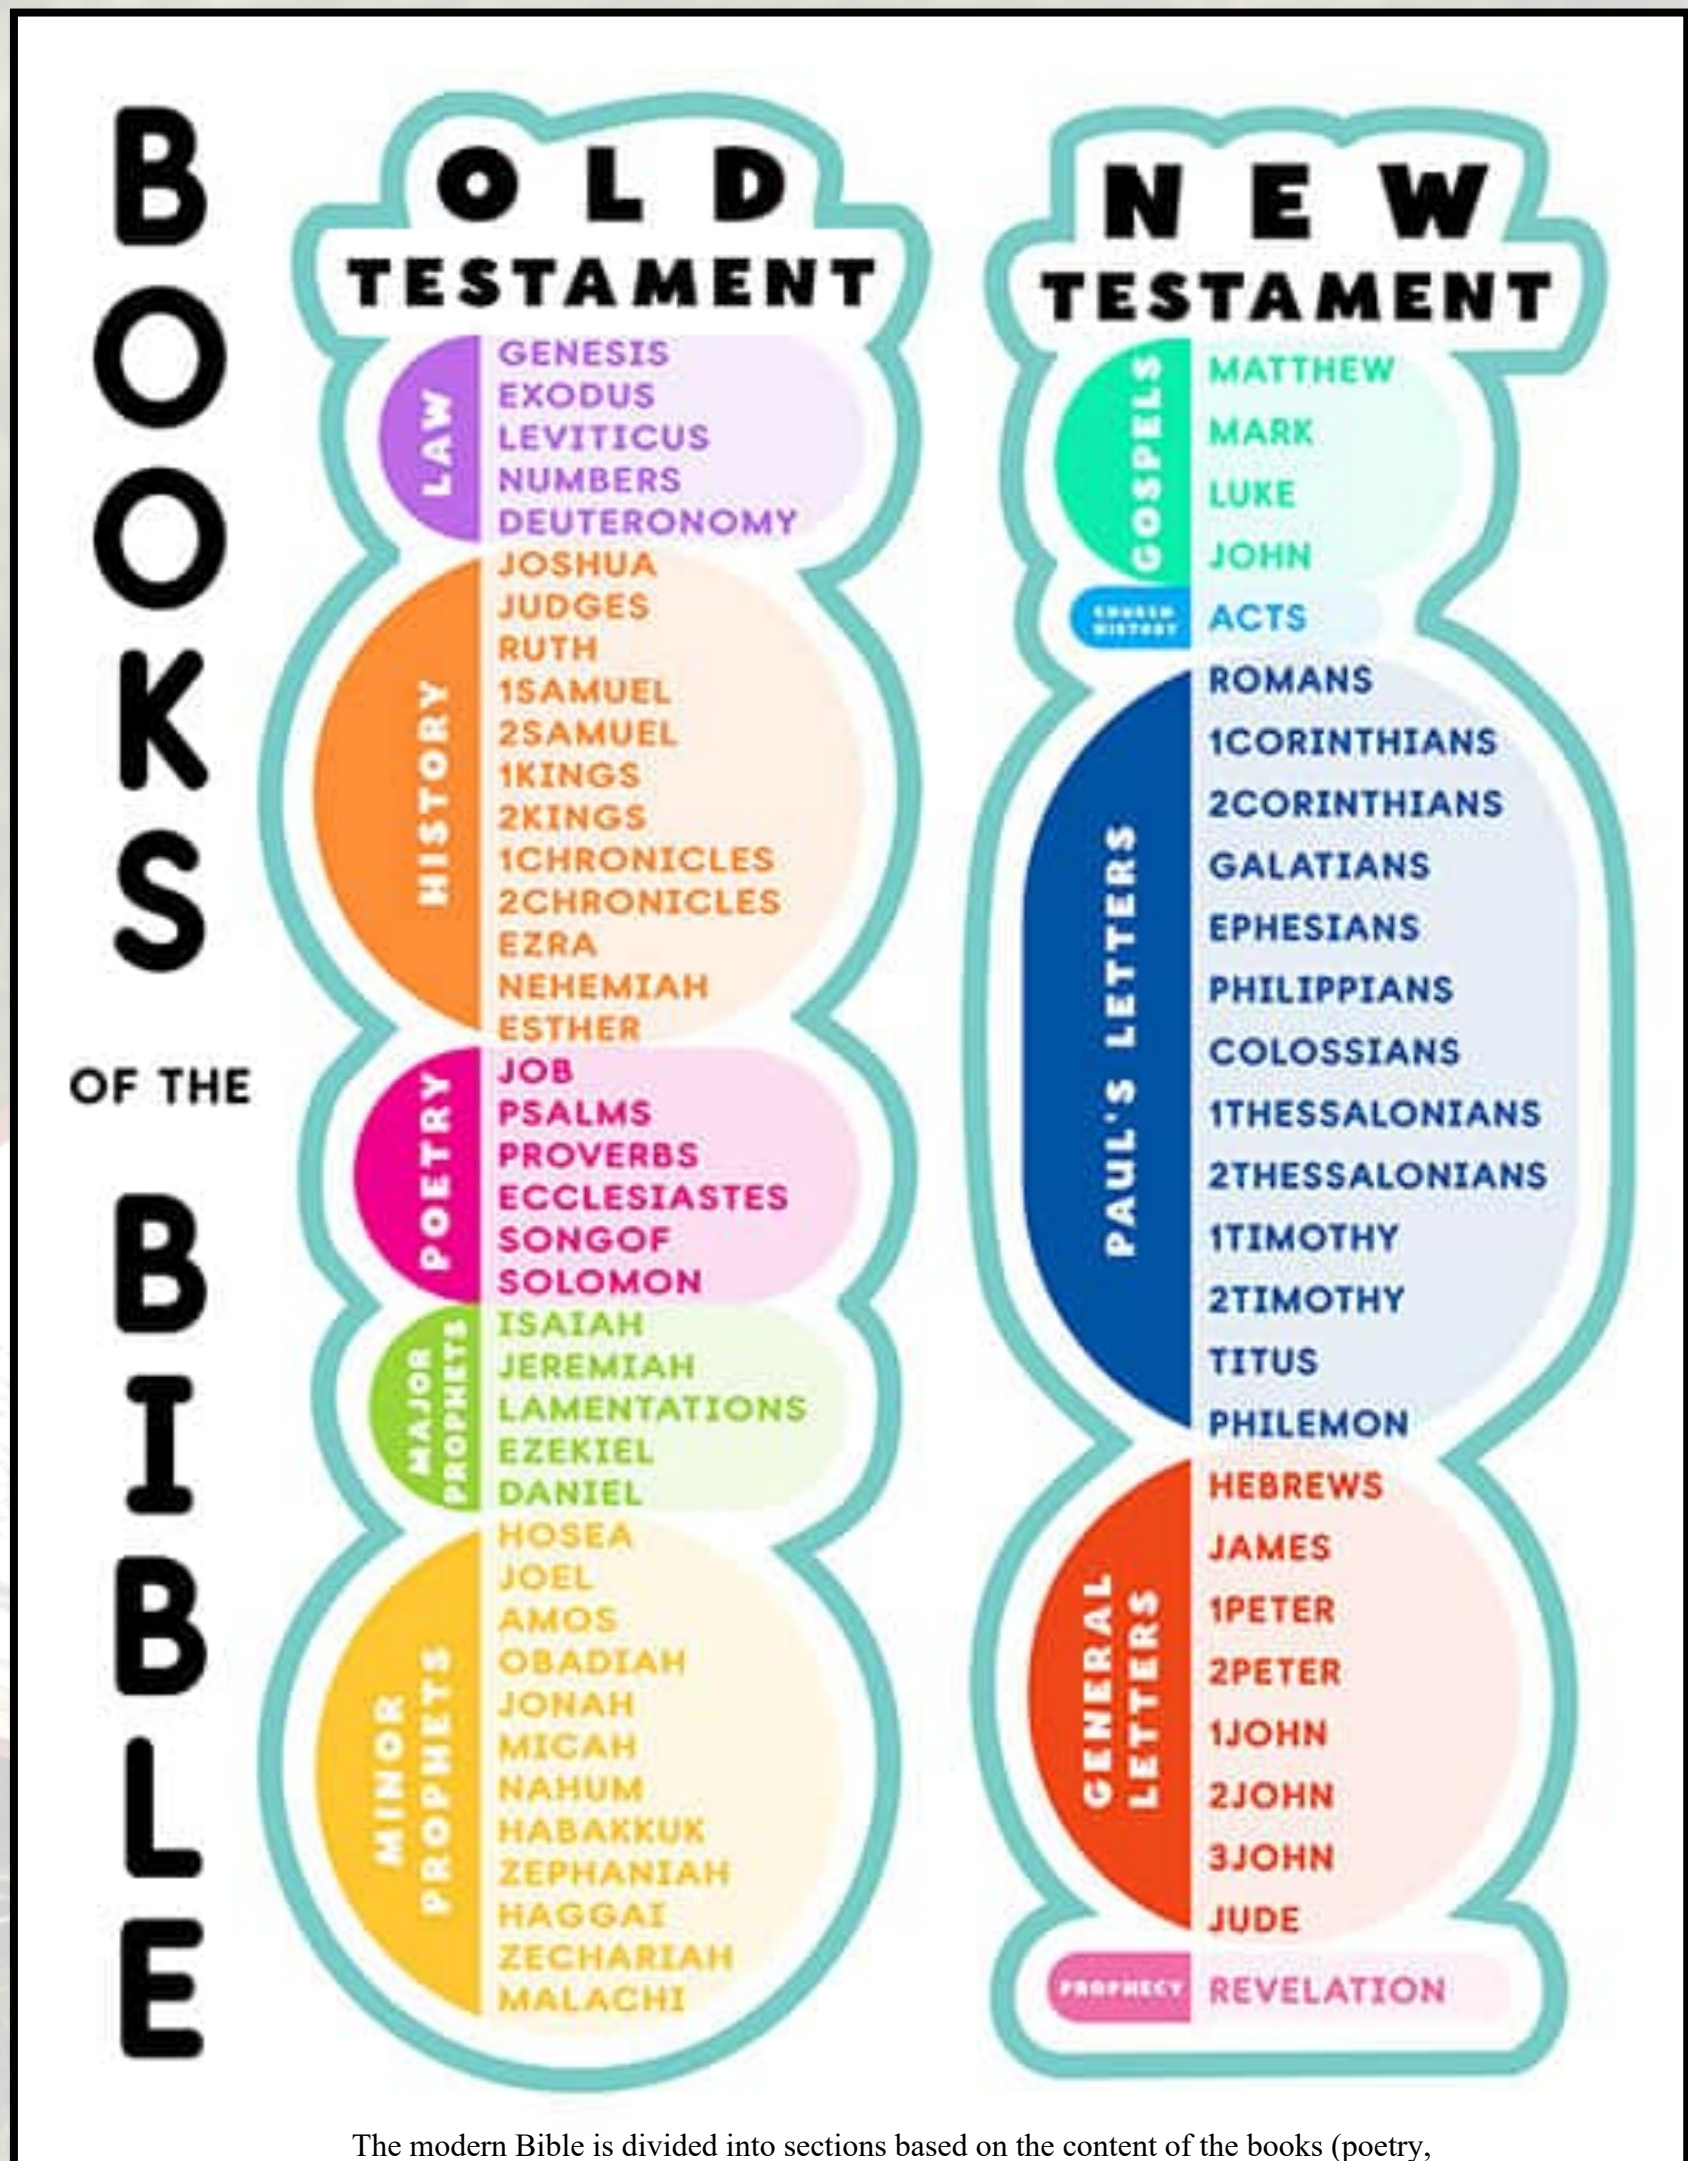

Muslims also believe parts of the Bible to be inspired by God, specifically the Pentateuch, the Psalms, and the Gospel of Jesus.

Books and Chapters

The Bible is divided into sections roughly by topic or type. Here's the most common method of dividing the Bible into sections:

The modern Bible is divided into sections based on the content of the books (poetry, Gospel, law, etc.) rather than the estimated order they were written in.<sup>1</sup>

If we want to follow God, we need to know His plan for us, what He wants us to do, and who He is. ## Concordance

The Bible is a big book! Several tools have been developed to make it easier to study:

The Bible concordance sorts the Bible by word and lists where to find it in the Bible. It lists each word of the Bible and where to find it. For example, if you wanted to read about faith, you would look up “faith” and every reference for “faith” would be listed. This helps you to study by topic and find other references on the same topic. This makes it easier to find these references in context to get a better understanding of the way its use was intended!

Strong's Exhaustive Concordance of the Bible is one of the most popular and detailed Bible concordance available.<sup>1</sup>

Bible Commentary

A Bible commentary gives insight, historical facts, background, and explains things as you read. Verse by verse, it provides additional information and cross references that give the reader a clearer understanding of what they are reading. A commentary also helps to “connect the dots” between different Biblical events, symbols, and characters.

The Andrews Bible Commentary is the official Pathfinder Bible commentary, often referenced in events such as Pathfinder Bible Experience.<sup>(1)</sup>

For example, did you know that King David’s general, Joab, was his cousin? Or that Amasa, David’s enemy’s general, was King David’s nephew?

Keep the Morning Watch

What does the Bible mean to you? Is it a thick book full of confusing words and symbols? Is it a book of adventure stories that teach you about God's plan? Is it a book that gathers dust by your bed? The Bible can mean many things to us, but it represents something special to God. It's like a special letter from our best Friend, containing the secrets to living a happy and fulfilling life, and a treasure map that leads us to have a closer walk with Jesus forever!

The first law in the Pathfinder Law is to “Keep the morning watch,” which means to dedicate time each day to learning more about God. How will you use your Bible to keep the morning watch?
